

SACRED CANTATA
LIKE A PRAYER

The "Seven Last Words of Christ" Splendidly Sung By Big Chorus Choir.

A solemn, sacred service of song was held at the First Presbyterian church Thursday evening as a part of the Easter week worship. A union chorus choir from the church, choir of the city sang "The Seven Last Words of Christ" arranged by Doherty, in such an impressive manner that the music took the form of sermon in song telling the tragedy of Calvary.

The sacred cantata was given first during Easter week last year by a similar chorus choir under the direction of James Graham McNary. It proved to be so fitting for the week preceding Easter that Mr. McNary and his associates were requested to repeat the concert this year and "The Seven Last Words of Christ" has become a permanent feature of Easter week worship in El Paso as it will be given each year on Maundy Thursday.

Seven Last Speeches.
The seven last words of Christ, the seven last speeches of Christ before his death. These have been woven into a great musical theme which tells of the suffering and sacrifice and finally, the terrible grandeur of the death of the cross. The speeches, as given in the cantata are: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," "Verily thou shalt be in paradise today with me," "See, oh woman, here behold thy son," "I am thirsty," "Father into thy hands I commend my soul," and "It is finished."

Splendid Ensemble Singing.
The ensemble singing of the chorus of 45 voices, under the direction of Mr. McNary, was one of the most effective features of the sacred concert. There was a tremendous about the subdued singing of the big chorus which made the numbers sound like a massive musical prayer. The solo numbers were equally well sung, the soprano, tenor and bass solos being sung by Mrs. Robert L. Holliday, Charles Andrews and Matthew Lemen. Their voices blended perfectly into the theme of the sacred story. Mrs. Holliday's plaintive soprano was especially pleasing in the solos and her rendition of the soprano number at the climax of the cantata, was especially well sung. To many of his audience it was Mr. McNary's first appearance and his high, clear, sonorous voice, blended with the chorus choir and made a fine contrast with the deep bass of Mr. Lemen's singing. The organ score was more than an accompaniment to the cantata, it was a big part in the theme.

Splendid Organ Music.
Mrs. James Graham McNary played the difficult organ music with the same subdued, prayerful effect which marked her husband's direction of the chorus choir, which she played the powerful organ solo depicting the darkness, the earth's trembling and the rending of the veil at the cross she surprised even her closest friends by her superb work at the organ.

The auditorium of the church was filled with the audience made up from the congregations of the other churches and from the city at large to whom the sacred concert has become a part of holy week. The concert was made possible by the efforts of Mr. McNary, who organized the choir and secured the soloists of his own initiative.

Members of Choir.
The members of the big choir were as follows:
Mezzosoprano: I. A. Barnes, R. W. Newton, Harry Patterson, A. J. Keener, F. V. White, C. M. Lyman, Paul Heermann, F. C. Emery, Henry Clay Greer, Anselm Deane, Diana Smith, W. C. Haden, H. A. CAPTAINS IN "Y" PLAN CAMPAIGN

Ten Companies of 12 Men Each to Go to Work Next Tuesday Morning.

Preparing for the whirlwind campaign to raise $25,000 for the work of the Y. M. C. A. during the coming year, the captains of the various teams of solicitors met this afternoon with chairman Winchester Cogley in the directors' room of the Rio Grande Valley Y. M. C. A. The campaign will be launched Monday night with a big dinner of the captains, their workers and others interested in the Y. M. C. A. On Tuesday morning the soliciting will begin, to continue for four days. The work is to be done by 120 men, divided into 10 companies of 12 men each, with Mr. Cogley directing the campaign, and the following serving as captains of companies: H. E. Christie, J. Harry Henderson, K. L. Simons, Crawford Harris, Olen Saxon, Geo. Franklin, Allan Rodes, E. M. Gray, W. J. Tooley and one other to be selected. Each company will fly at the work in an effort to outdo the other companies in the amount of money raised. All the members are busy business men and they will expect those called upon to be ready to submerge what they can without delay, so that the work can be completed in the four days. The work the Y. M. C. A. is doing in El Paso is known to every citizen; explanation is not necessary on the part of the committee. For several days The Herald has been telling of some of the good work done by the association, and those who did not know of its work previously have known now for not knowing all about it.

RECOVER MISSING CAR AFTER CHASE THROUGH THE STREETS

Missing from in front of the home of Manuel Salazar, in the North apartment, for the past two weeks, a seven-passenger touring car, was recovered by police officers J. M. Lavin and A. A. Funk, after a pursuit of over a block Thursday night on North El Paso street. The driver of the car, R. Morphin, was not arrested by the officers as he proved that the automobile had been loaned to him by a friend in Juarez. Wednesday morning a description of the stolen machine was given to the police department by Horace B. Stevens, representing an insurance company in which Salazar carried a premium on the car. Thursday night Herman Lavin recognized the number of the stolen car, and calling to Funk quizzed the automobile, both policemen jumping on the running board.

WOMAN SKILLED, WAS KNOWN HERE

Mrs. W. Butler Killed When Train Strikes Automobile, Near Phoenix.

Phoenix, Ariz., April 21.—Mrs. W. Butler, of Tempe, was instantly killed, and four other persons were seriously injured Thursday evening when the automobile in which they were traveling, was struck by an Arizona & Eastern railway train, four miles south of this city. The injured were brought to Phoenix on the train that struck them and were placed in the hospital where it is hoped they will recover. According to the statement of an occupant of the automobile, it became stalled on the tracks in front of the rapidly approaching engine. Mrs. Butler endeavored to jump, with her three-year old daughter clasped in her arms, just as the train struck. She had lived in Phoenix for the past three years, coming to this city from El Paso, Texas, where it is said she was employed in the Lyric theater.

No word of the death of Mrs. W. Butler had been received by friends in El Paso Friday. The deceased was the wife of W. Butler, former manager of the Majestic and Lyric vaudeville shows of this city, and was often seen on the stage at these two playhouses.
